COURT OF APPEALS,

Annapolis, Jany 24th 1883.

J. Harrison Garrett, Esq.,

Dear Sir:-

Yours of the 22nd inst. to hand and contents noted. The impression of the seal sent, with the words "Court of Appeals, Maryland," is an Exact Copy of the old seal of the Court of Appeals. I can find nothing Concerning the other. I have shown the impressions to all the members of the Court present and to the Reporter, none of whom can give me any information. I suppose giving the impressions to Mr.

Francis B. Mayer, of this City, who is the best posted man on such subjects, I have any knowledge of, with the request that he Examine into the matter, and write You the result of his investigation. He will do so cheerfully, I am sure —

Annapolis 24 Jan. 83,

Dear Sir,

Mr S. Jones has handed me yr note and the impressions of a seal of which you desire to trace the significance - That of the Court of Appeals can only date from the period of our republic as such a court did not previously exist I understand - By what clerk it was used, (there have been seven), can only be traced by reference to C of A documents to be found probably in Court records in Baltimore as seals are only placed on papers sent from the office -

As to the other impression, I am at a loss to see any connection it can have with the seal of the Court of Appeals - and as I read it I hope I am not treading on anybody's toes - An illegitimate member of the Calvert family has married some one whose ~~Arms~~ Arms bear a rampant lion crowned so far as I can distinguish the animal - The Calvert Scutcheon occupies the left half of the shield and is crossed by a "baton" which does not reach the limits of the shield - The ends cut off - This is a mark of illegitimacy as you may notice in the Arms of the several Fitz so and so, who were Charles 2nd's bastards - The Crest in yr arms is of the Calverts, or Similar, & has a Baronial Coronet, I think — It is quite interesting to study this Subject — May it not be the arms of Henry Harford, the heir of Frederick, last Lord Baltimore? — Perhaps you may duplicate the Arms in Some English heraldry under Harford — In Peabody Library I believe Steinecke's collection of Heraldic works is preserved & there it may be found — I have not had time to consult the works here in Naval Library, St Johns, or the State Library but will be very happy to aid you in any manner my limited acquaintance with heraldry permits —

Many people speak ignorantly of the "bar-sinister" — It is no mark of dishonour at all — The baton laid across a shield alone indicates an irregular descent.

Believe me
very truly yrs
Frank B. Mayer.

This is the original Medal given by the U.S. Government to "Black Hawk" as a peace Medal. It was lost by him while hunting in Iowa. over three years after was ploughed up by a farmer. The mark of the ploughshare being on it. Black Hawk having died in the meantime, it was kept by the finder, over sold to Mr Packard of Warren Ohio. from whom I bought it in 1860 for $20. At the time the Medal was lost there was great excitement among the Indians. they searched the country for miles around hoping to find it.

Thos R. Garrett,

Dear Sir

Owing to a severe illness for three years past I desire to sell my entire private collection of Coin Catalogues one of the most complete collections in the country, extending from 1823 to 1880. many of which are excessively rare. Most of them are priced in the finest manner the pricing alone cost me over one hundred dollars. If you care to collect coin catalogues I would be glad to send you a list of them or if desired could forward them for examination which however would involve considerable expense or if

Dear Sir. I bought everything you bid on in the sale today at extremely low figures. The unique Gobelin "Washington" "Choiseul Club Medal" for $23.25 the price bill $50.— would have been cheap. The three Washingtons with blank reverses I got at $7.25 each. less than one third your bid. Hope to be as successful during the remainder of the sale

Dear Sir, I inclose to your address lead-pencil impressions of two old pennies in my possession, bearing dates respectively of 1804 and 1798. The first of these is in a fair state of preservation excepting the date or rather the second numeral, 8, of the same; this coin is about one & a half times the thickness of the ordinary "Cart-wheel cents" of earlier and later dates, and has the words, "One hundred for a dollar," distinctly impressed upon the outer edge. The other is in a perfect state of preservation as may be seen from the accompanying impressions.

Trust that you may kind

by return mail.

Are both or either of the ab described coins sufficiently rar to make them desirable to coll value? and where or in what manner can I dispose of the same to the best advantag

Dear Sir

Having read in the Galignani Messenger Sept. 2 85 an interesting notice mentioning your name as the owner of a fine numismatic Collection. I take the liberty of addressing you that I have several old Coins in my possession for many years, some from New Mexico & from Virginia which might be an addition to your collection - I have one a 1787 Cent - in good condition - the American eagle on one side & an Indian with his bow & arrow on the other side (arm of Massachusetts) - Also a 10 dollars gold piece of 1796 with the eagle & the phrygian Cap on a head the other side, One Spanish old Silver dollar or peso) pole preserved of 1775 - Carolus III - dei. G. Hispania Rex - Another also of Carolus IIII - 1803 - The notice I read was giving the different value of each coin - according to the dates. Among them was a 1793 Cent which brought $200 in New York City. Should it be agreable to you to become the owner of them. Please to do me the favor to let me know what might be their value.

Or if you know a friend in Paris who could examine them for you.

I should be glad to hear from you. I have lived in America over 70 years in Richd. Va. Din Santa Fe.
N. Mexico. Hoping this will reach you.

This is my address.
